CAPTURE OF MARSHALL CRAIN.

He was Armed with Two Guns and Two Pistols.
Marshall Crain, accused of murdering Sidney, was captured in Pocatontos, on Black river, in Arkansas, on Friday morning. Deputy Sheriff B. F. Lowe made the arrest. Crain was armed with two guns and two pistols, and was caught while asleep in a house. He is now in Carbondale in irons.

And Accident.

A. W. Howell, agent of the Mississippi Central railroad, and telegraph operator, at Filmore City, while engaged in switching cars yesterday, caught his heel in a "frog," and falling across the track was run over and killed by a train of cars that was backing down at the time. The switchman being sick, Mr. Howell was performing his duty, and to his inexperience in the business may be attributed his sad death. He leaves a wife to mourn his untimely end.

A Celebrity in Cairo.

E. V. Wilson, the celebrated lecturer and test medium, will lecture in the Liberal Religious Hall on Sunday, September 26th, at 10:30 o'clock a. m. and 7:30 o'clock p. m., and at the close of each lecture will give astonishing tests of clairvoyance, describe the spirit forms of our departed friends, and give other tests marvelous and attractive. Mr. Wilson is one of the eloquent lecturers of the day, and never fails to draw full houses in New York, Cincinnati, St. Louis and other large cities. Come one, come all, and hear and see for yourselves.
The morning lecture will be free; 25 cents admittance will be charged for the evening lecture.

Lectures.

A series of lectures, under the auspices of the Library Association, for the establishment of a public library in Cairo, will be held alternately at the Presbyterian, Methodist and Christian churches. The following ladies and gentlemen have kindly consented to lecture, commencing:
Oct. 5—Mr. S. P. Wheeler.
Oct. 12—Mrs. W. R. Smith.
Oct. 19—Rev. Chas. A. Gilbert.
Oct. 26—Mrs. H. W. Gardner.
Nov. 2—Prof. G. G. Alvord.
Nov. 9—(To be filled.)
Nov. 16—Dr. H. W. Gardner.
Nov. 23—Miss Kate Thompson.
Nov. 29—Dr. W. R. Smith.
Dec. 6—(To be filled.)
Dec. 13—Hon. Wm. H. Green.
Dec. 19—Mrs. G. G. Alvord.

General Items.

—Howe is the best singer. He is a splendid tenor.
—Large stock clothing to be sold out without reserve, at C. Hanny's.
—Large stock gents' furnishing goods at very low prices, at C. Hanny's.
—Large stock ladies' furnishing goods, to be sold very cheap at C. Hanny's.
—Large stock dry goods, without reserve, at very low prices, at C. Hanny's.
—Large stock of carpets, oil cloths and matting, at greatly reduced prices, at C. Hanny's.
—Miss Swoboda, sister of Adolph Swoboda, died at one o'clock yesterday afternoon.
—Phil Sapp is now receiving the finest stock of candles offered for sale in Cairo for years.
—Reeve, as before, "rose up" on Friday night. He is as good as any professional.
—Large stock of dress goods, merinos, alpaca, poplins, cashmeres, very cheap, at C. Hanny's.
—Large stock of domestic prints, muslins, and tickings, at low prices, at C. Hanny's.
—The letter-list will be found in another column by any reader who hunts for it.
—As "unlucky man," Mr. William H. Morris has few equals and no superior. He is actually immense.
—Yesterday about noon four or five drops of rain fell on Washington avenue in front of the BULLETIN office.
—Hon. B. A. Neal, of Mayfield, Kentucky, was in the city yesterday on his way to attend court at Blandville.
—The young man, John Oswald, is an actor of no mean ability. He carried his parts on Friday night excellently well.
—Cairo will regret the removal of J. R. Cunningham, Esq., to Mound City, but Cairo's loss will be our neighbor's gain.
—Burger, the extensive dry goods man of Commercial avenue, is home again. He bought while East an elegant stock of goods.
—Miss Kate Webb, who has been visiting the Misses Simons, at Anna, for the past two months, returned to her home in this city yesterday.

—The gravel now being put on Sixth street, between Commercial avenue and the levee, is said to be the best ever used upon the streets of Cairo.

—Mr. Wilson, who is to lecture in Liberal Religious Hall, arrived by the Illinois Central railroad train yesterday afternoon.

—Rosa, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dezmia, died yesterday morning. The remains were taken to Jonesboro for interment.

—Elder Pierce will preach this morning at the Methodist church. The first quarterly meeting of this station will be held. Mr. Gillham will preach to-night.

—Rev. Mr. Gillham, the new Methodist minister, will preach to-day. He is, we are informed, a very able preacher, and his sermons are said to contain much matter.

—Mr. George T. Dearborn, of Lynn, Massachusetts, a schoolmate of Treasurer Blake, is now in this city on a visit. Blake will make a Cairoite of Mr. Dearborn, if possible.

—The business of dying is becoming very popular outside of Cairo. Almost everybody in the country around about our city is either dead or getting ready to go into their coffins.

—The Taylor Literary Club felt elated over the great success of their minstrel entertainment Friday night. The net proceeds realized from the undertaking foot up an even hundred dollars.

—The theory of our river correspondent about the attack the Mississippi is making upon the Illinois shore at this place, is, we have no doubt, the correct one. "Wait" is up in river matters.

—The Ancient Order of Hibernians are to give a grand ball on the 18th of October. They are making preparations, and propose having it excel anything of the like yet given.

—Mr. Hyslop, of the Enterprise Savings Bank, who has been absent a long time, will return within a few days. A sight of him will be good for sore eyes. We miss him at home.

—The Soc classes Mr. Jewett Wilcox as a Republican. This gentleman has assured us more than once that he is done with the Republican party. The civil rights bill was too much for Wilcox.

—J. R. Cunningham, Esq., will formally open the Central House, at Mound City today. He will celebrate the event with a free lunch at Westphal's garden, near the town. He will continue to drive hacks and practice law.

—The Taylor Literary Society having made a great hit in the intellectual business of negro minstrelsy, now propose to "go up higher" and engage in a mind-developing circus. An order for horses has already been sent forward.

—Tickets to the Lecture Course of the Library Association, can be purchased at the book and drug stores of the city. Double season tickets, $3; single, $2. Price of admission to one lecture, 25 cents.

—The elite of the city were at the Athenaeum on Friday night. The presence of so large and select an audience was a great compliment to the young men of the Taylor Literary Society, who ministered on the occasion.

—Judge Bird passed sentence upon but one man yesterday. The offender was one James Carroll, who was arrested by Brown and Sargent for being drunk. He was fined two dollars and costs, and sent over for three days because he couldn't pay.

—Mr. W. W. Thornton will drop down upon us from Shelbyville in October. Cairo would be the gainer if Thornton could be induced to tarry with us. He is one of the men who take an interest in our city, and are willing to do something to build it up.

—A. Halley will put a full force of hands to work to-morrow morning to remove his mammoth stock of stoves, tinware, etc., to his new store, No. 114 Commercial avenue, opposite Winter's block and next door to the Arab engine house.

—It was Ricks, the preacher, whose house was destroyed by fire on Friday night. All he had in the world was consumed, and yesterday he was circulating a paper asking for subscriptions to aid him in his misfortunes. He is a healthy man, and physically able to work.

—The general opinion is, that the "City Council" on Friday night at the Athenaeum was a flat failure. In the "play," the Mayor indulged in a torrent of talk. This is not according to tradition. The Mayor in the actual Council, is not much of a talker. He's nearly always silent, except when he says something.

—Mrs. S. J. S., in a letter to the Paducah Herald, describes the "Liberal Religious Association" of this city as "members of various churches, people who are members of no church, Materialists, Infidels, Atheists, and Deists; but the original pillars were and are Spiritualists and Infidels." Quite a mixture—oil, water, vinegar, etc.

—D. K. Dill's Inventive Crew is coming on with something new. It is a canvass troupe, and will pass through the country. It is said to be second to none in America for talent or good management, and gives exhibitions consisting, the bills says, "in morality, tragedy and comedy." The Inventive Crew is now in this city, passing through.

—One of the trance people named Wilson, will close his eyes in the hall of the Liberal Religious Association this morning, and commonplace for from forty to sixty minutes. He is, we have been informed, a talker of considerable ability, spirits or no spirits. A person might, possibly, gain some information and be entertained by listening to him.

—A few days ago, Rev. Dr. Thayer, formerly of this city, was announced as one of the actors in a Centennial tea party affair at Vincennes. He was to have acted Washington to some lady's Mrs. W.; but the tailor who manufactured the costumes made a suit for George that the Doctor could not get into, and Martha had to go it alone. Dr. Thayer was much chagrined, but submitted to the misfortune with Christian resignation.

—The minstrel performance given by the Taylor Literary Club at the Athenaeum on Friday night, is pronounced by all as the finest amateur entertainment ever seen in this city. The troupe, in consequence of their great success on this occasion, will visit Charleston next Wednesday night, and give the citizens of that place a grand musical and minstrel show.

—The ladies who will lecture before the Library Association, are Mrs. Dr. Smith, Mrs. Dr. Gardner, Mrs. Prof. Alvord, Miss Kate Thompson, and probably Mrs. H. H. Cander. The last-named lady and Mrs. J. H. Oberly have been invited to lecture, but they are absent from the city, and no answer has been yet received from them.

—The lecture course of the Library Association, for the establishment of a public library in this city, will commence October 5th, next, Mr. S. P. Wheeler behind the desk. We do not know the subject of this gentleman's proposed discourse, but we know enough of his ability to confidently assert that he will both instruct and entertain. His lectures are always carefully prepared, and give evidence that their author is a man of much learning and eloquence.

—The young man, James Cassidy, who was arrested by Officer Sheehan a few days ago, on suspicion of being implicated in taking a suit of clothes and a gold watch and chain from a young man while the latter was in one of the houses of ill fame of this city, was up before Judge Bross yesterday and given a hearing. His Honor, Mayor Winter and another gentleman testified to the fact that the accused was with them on the night the robbery was committed, from twelve until after three o'clock, and as the theft took place between these hours, Cassidy was discharged.

—We have been informed by one of the Cairo & Vincennes men, that the people who manage that road do not intend to remove their offices to Vincennes or to stop trains at the incline plane above the city—that no such instructions were received from New York. If this is so, all right. But who manufactured the report? What was the intention? If to scare any person it was a signal failure. If it was manufactured to injure the business of the road, we regret that we gave it currency. Certainly the gentlemen who control the road care nothing for the indictments found against them. They will come off unscathed by the action of the grand jury, and they are not unaware of this fact.

—Our suggestion that the City Council shall, by ordinance, prohibit the destruction of any building, outhouse, tenement or hereditament by fire north of the third ward has met with opposition. Some of our citizens, who have heretofore been regarded as intelligent, have informed us that this cannot be done. They seem to believe the Council not equal to the task. But this is a mistake. The Council has no doubt of its ability to do anything by ordinance, and has attempted to do in this way more difficult things than the stopping of configurations in the city. Besides, the objectors should not forget that it is very inconvenient to have fires so far up town, and should be willing to have anything done to stop them.

TAYLOR LITERARY CLUB.

How they Entertained the Public on Friday Night.

When the members of the Taylor Literary Club made their appearance on the streets of the city Friday afternoon, in tall, luminous black hats, with an occasional lavender kid visible, and canes bearing suggestive and very grotesque heads, all the citizens stared and wondered, and the small boys danced jigs to the music, or stood on their heads and hands. It was a proud day for the club, and its genial members all looked as melancholy as possible, and saluted their friends with cross eyes and side-glances. Couldn't have advertised their entertainment better than that, no way. There didn't seem to be any foolishness in the literary plugs, and there weren't any unnecessary skinning after things evanescent. It was a first-class procession—one sufficiently mysterious to provoke inquisitive citizens. But a few green colored programmes told what a fine time was contemplated at the Athenaeum that night.

Eight o'clock saw the theater crowded with all classes of good and clever people, and the mayor, and a few of the city fathers. The gas jets were not as cheerful as gas jets usually are, but they were cheerful enough, and shed a very soft light down on a critical audience that had assembled to enjoy a "literary treat" composed of some very sentimental ballads, and laughable negro eccentricities. Fourteen well dressed, and well blacked members of the club responded to a bell, and a performance of a very superior character followed. The end men, Mr. J. A. Reeve (bones), and Mr. Lou Schuckers (tambourine), were excessively funny, and no trace of the amateur could be discovered in their composition. Next to bones was located John Oswald, who is the essence of dry wit and serious repartee. To the right of tambourine, W. Q. McGhee occasionally forced the audience from its gentle repose. The great bouquet of the circle, the Johnson of the party, proved to be W. H. Morris, and much of the success attending the opening scene must justly be attributed to him. "Climbing the Golden Stair" was well sung by Mr. J. S. Alsthorpe, who was loudly applauded. When Mr. Frank Howe sang, in clear, musical tenor, the charming song, "Kiss and Forget all the Past," the audience seemed as if listening to footfalls "tinkling on a tufted floor." It was really a song that captivated, and the chorus, by the quartette (Hacker, Morris, Alsthorpe and Howe) was the musical treat of the evening. "On Captain of the Guards," by Lou Schuckers, was rendered in an agreeable style, and was frequently applauded. We gave him a week off to prepare and execute his Ethiopian novelties, and if he is not on hand Monday we can put it down to a severe attack of minstrelsy. "Softly, Sweetly Whisper," by N. W. Hacker, met with many encomiums. "Scotch Lassie Jean" brought into play all the superior vocal qualities of W. H. Morris, and gained for that gentleman many rounds of applause. The first scene closed with the "Louisiana Tigers," personated by Oswald, Schuckers, Norton and McGhee. It was a rollicking military display.

The clog dance, by Mr. Lally, gave satisfaction. Norton and his band were entertaining; and Morris, telling "How Jacob Found it Out," proved irresistible.

McGhee, Oswald, Hawkins, Milburn, Clay and Hacker kept the house in a roar in the extravagant farce of "The Black Shoemaker." "Old Black Joe" showed J. A. Reeve in an interesting role; and "Deaf in a Horn," by Schuckers and Norton, produced much merriment—in which the former rendered the "essence" in a good style. Then followed a character song by Alsthorpe, and "Othello and Desdemona," by Oswald and McGhee. A song by Schuckers, and the entertainment ended by the "City Council." The latter was a local hit, and seemed to be much relished by the audience.

Take it as a whole, the performance was very creditable to the gentlemen who figured in it, and we feel certain some of them displayed qualities in the art of minstrelsy of a flattering character. We do not wish to particularize, but think that Morris, Oswald and Reeve are no slouches in the business they undertook.

RIVER AND WEATHER.

—The river last evening was 19 feet 3 inches on the gauge, having fallen 4 1/2 of an inch during the previous 24 hours.

—The weather was cloudy yesterday, and a light sprinkle of rain fell during the forenoon, but not enough to lay the dust.

—Business is improving.
GENERAL ITEMS.
—The Arkansas Belle brought a light trip.

—The James D. Parker reshipped 150 tons for the lower river and had 200 tons for Memphis.

—Freights for the south have been coming in pretty lively for the past two days, and the Bee and barges, Carry V. Kountz and Anchor-liners will get fair additions here.

—The Mississippi still walks deliberately into the bank back of the city, and if the Government does not soon do something to counteract the evils resulting from the dam and dyke which it constructed at Devil's Island our levee will soon be in the river. Will some of our citizens who are so apt at joining people, please direct their attention to this matter and give Uncle Sam a turn? We would not advise that the Devil's Island works be condemned, for they are a vast improvement to the channel of the river at that point, but as they are ruining our city we would have our citizens take immediate steps to prevail, if possible, upon the proper government officials to correct the wrong by building works for our protection as well as for the protection of government property here.
